The new Alumatech® has several upgraded and redesigned features that are on all Travis End Dumps, such as rubber-sealed gate, over-center gate latches, and heavy-duty tailgate frame bracing.

While much of the trailer is the same as its predecessor, several important areas have been improved, redesigned or updated, including:

ALUMINUM SUB-FRAME The critical front end of the subframe has been lengthened over 22% and has had over 250 pounds of excess steel removed.

COUPLER PLATE has been upgraded to T-1 steel, and the upper and lower saddles have been enlarged from a 4" to 5" radius.

DROP LEGS The all aluminum drop legs are now mounted on the draft arms, a safer and sturdier design.

DRAFT ARMS The connection of the draft arm to the center of the body has been dramatically strengthened.

TAILGATE latches now lock "over-center" like all Travis trailers:

- The tailgate cylinders have been relocated to a protected area;
- The tailgate top-hangers have been upgraded to match Travis standards;
- The gate is rubber-sealed with Travis' proprietary snap-in design

NOSE Hoist support tubes are now super thick 1" extruded channels.

- The top rail connection to the nose has been redesigned eliminating the old pipe braces.
